

The Daily Courant.

Wednesday, January 27. 1703.

From the Harlem Courant, dated Jan. 27.

Rome, January 6.

Great Search is made after the Assassin that shot Signior Zeccadoro, one of the Pope's Secretaries; and Orders have been sent to all the neighbouring Towns and Villages, to stop all Passengers that come out of this City: Several Persons have already been taken up, among others a Swiss who stood Centry at the Door where stand the Pillars, from behind one of which the Musquetoon that kill'd the Secretary was discharg'd. All the Servants of Signior Zeccadoro are likewise seiz'd, to try whether any thing can be got out of them. The Pope is extreamly concern'd for the loss of him, and has publish'd a Proclamation, offering 10000 Crowns to those that shall discover the Murderer.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated Jan. 27.

Breslau, Jan. 14. The Post from hence to Poland is so very uncertain, that the Letters do not pass regularly; But we learn, that the hopes of a Peace between the Kings of Poland and Sweden are expir'd, for that the latter begins to take upon him to insist on higher Terms than formerly, insomuch that 'tis doubted whether he will now accept of the Emperor's Mediation. Mean time the Swedes ravage the Country. Several Swedish Officers that have been here for some time, are all gone after their Army, so that we expect to hear News of some Enterprize.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated Jan. 30.

They write from Warsaw of the 9th, that the Cardinal Primate having receiv'd a Letter with advice, that a Troop of Horse of the Saxon Garrison of Valiz, had committed great Disorders at Opatewitz, a Place that is dependent on his Archbischoprick of Guesna; His Eminency was provok'd to a great deal of Passion by it, the rather, for that the Pope's Nuncio had assur'd him, but some days before, on the part of his Polish Majesty, that he had given order for the Saxons to quit entirely the Lands of the Cardinal. They add further, that he sent one of his Gentlemen to the Nuncio, not only to communicate to him that Letter, but also to acquaint him that he would resent the Affront that was put on him, and endeavour to make himself Satisfaction. He sent to Count Sinzendorf likewise on the same occasion.

Dantzick, Jan. 20. The Saxon Troops that are quarter'd in the neighbouring Country are preparing to depart, and 'tis believ'd, that if the Swedes should advance this way, as 'tis likely they will in the Frosty Weather, the King of Poland will move with these Saxons into Lithuania, where there is arriv'd a great Body of Muscovites. The King of Sweden is expected at Warsaw, some of his Troops are arriv'd at Rawa within 20 Miles of Thorn.

Alicant, Jan. 1. A Genouese Ship, with Soldiers on board, bound from Barcelona to Cadiz, was lately cast away, but all the Men except 5 and a Woman were sav'd.

From the Harlem Courant, dated Jan. 25.

Cleves, Jan. 19. Yesterday being the Coronation-day of the King of Prussia, it was observ'd here with great Rejoycings; in the Evening above 200 Persons were treated very magnificently in the Castle; and Fire-works were let off in several parts of the Town. The Estates of this Dutchy that were assembled here are separated, but have left some Deputies to attend the Resolutions of the Court on their Proceedings.

Ghent, Jan. 21. Yesterday the greatest part of the Regiment of Almanzag, which was garrison'd in our Castle, was sent by Water to Ostend: The Subsidy which this Province of Flanders is to raise, is 2 Millions and 600000 Guilders, of which the Castellany of Courtray is to raise 400000 and the City 33000 Guilders, and other Places in Propportion. The Canons of the Cathedral Church of Courtray have, out of good Husbandry, dismiss'd their Musicians, and the Poor Priests that they us'd to hire to officiate for them in the Choire, read Martins themselves; and in short, will be oblig'd to be beholding to their Friends for Subsistence: Two days ago our Bishop gave a noble Entertainment to the Marquess de Vidre, the Count de la Motte, and other Persons of Quality; since which the Count de la Motte is gone to Bruges.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated Jan. 30.

Copenhagen, Jan 20. The King's Forces are order'd to hold themselves in a readiness to march in the Spring; and there is a talk of fitting out some Men of War.

Cologne, Jan. 26. The French at Bonn are in Expectation that the Marshal de Tallard will come by the way of Luxemburg within 3 Weeks, with 12 or 15000 Men, to strengthen Bonn with Men, Ammunition, and Artillery; This we learn by a Letter from the Marquis d'Alligre which was intercepted.

From

From Vienna of the 17th they write, That according to the last Advices from the Frontiers of Turkey, the Port had resolv'd to maintain Peace with the Czar of Muscovy. That the new Ambassador from the Czar has had Audience of the Grand Seignior, as likewise of the Great Visier and the Divan, with all the Ceremonies and Marks of Honour that he could desire: That the Sultan had sent to the Cham of Tartary, to let him know, it was his Pleasure that he should beware of giving the Muscovites any Molestation: And finally, That there was a Discourse of the Sultan's having given order to Depose the Cham, and for putting another in his place, for his having long importun'd the Port to make War on the Muscovites; but all this requires Confirmation.

THE Creditors of William Sheppard and Company, late of Lombard-street Goldsmiths, are desired forthwith to come to Mr. Nicholas Goodwin's Scrivener in Exchange-Alley, to Execute a Deed, in order to a speedy Satisfaction of their respective Debts,

At the Desire of several Persons of Quality.

ON Thursday the 28th of this instant January, in York-Buildings, will be perform'd a Consort of New Vocal and Instrumental Musick, by the Best Masters. Wherein the Famous Gasparini and Signior Petto, will Play several Italian Sonata's. And Mrs. Champion will Sing several English and Italian Songs for her own Benefit. Beginning at 8 of the Clock precisely. None to be admitted without Tickets, which are to be had at White's Chocolate-house in St. James's street, and the Spread-Eagle Coffee-house in Bridge's street near Covent-Garden.

To the Nobility and Gentry.

A Gentleman in travelling, hath brought with him an Invention no ways exceeding 12 Inches, wherewith he can grind Chocolate finer and with greater Expedition than others with a Stone, and is of that nature, that it cannot draw any thing from the Nut, that the Undertaker can afford to sell the best Chocolate that can be made in England, from the best Spanish Nuts, called Crackers, made up with Loaf Sugar, or all Nut, enrich'd with plenty of the best Vanello 12 d. a pound cheaper than any in London, and is much better for making this way, as many Persons of Quality, Chocolate-makers and Stone-cutters do acknowledge, upon sight of the Invention, but more especially in melting the Chocolate. The Town is crowded with foul Chocolate, therefore to avoid being impos'd upon by Forreigners, in paying extravagant Rates for the best, you will find it cheaper, and as good as you can make it at home; it is nicely made up in small Cakes, Quarters or half Pounds. Take as small or great quantity as you please, and if mislaid your Money again, and carriage paid from any part of England. The Chocolate is to be had, and the Invention to be seen, next door to the Bull-head a Milliners Shop in Dean-street between Holbourn and Red-Lion-Square.

WHereas Proposals were lately publish'd, for printing Mr. Somner's Antiquities of Canterbury in Folio, with great Additions and Improvements by the Reverend Mr. N. Battely: This is to give notice, that those who do not actually make their first payment (being only 5 s.) before the end of Hilary Term next, will be excluded from any Allowance mention'd in the Proposals. The Number to be printed will be regulated according to the Subscriptions that are made before that time; and those who neglect that opportunity, must not think themselves ill used, if afterwards they are oblig'd to pay more.

Most of the Cuts are already grav'd, and for dispatch, the Book it self will be shortly put to several Presses. Proposals are deliver'd, and Subscriptions taken, by R. Knaplock at the Angel in St. Paul's Church-yard, and by most other Booksellers.
